

2nd COLLOQUIUM OF PHD IN MATHEMATICS AND ITS APPLICATIONS (PMIA)

7-9 December, 2021 at AIMS Ghana, Accra.

Call for Applications

The African Institute for Mathematical Sciences (AIMS) Ghana invites applications for the 2nd Edition Colloquium of PhD in Mathematics and its Applications (PMIA) scheduled from 7th to 9th December, 2021 at AIMS Ghana in Accra.

The colloquium is organized within the framework of the German Research Chair program in AIMS Ghana, under the Alexander von Humboldt and the German Ministry of Education and Research and the DAAD Foundation. PMIA will bring together PhD candidates and young researchers in mathematics and its applications in Ghana.

This workshop will provide a platform for increasing the cooperation among PhD candidates on one hand and various institutions and research centers on the other hand.

Invited Lecturers and Speakers

- Atinuke Adebajji: Kwame Nkrumah University of Science & Technology
- Kwabena Doku-Amponsah: University of Ghana
- Stephen Moore: University of Cape Coast
- William Obeng-Denteh: Kwame Nkrumah University of Science & Technology
- Benoit Sehba: University of Ghana
- Nathaniel Howard: University of Cape Coast

Application and Requirements

Thanks to the sponsorship of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, the German Minister of Education and Research, DAAD, and AIMS Ghana, there are no registration fees for all research students and academics.

For more information, kindly send an email to Mrs. Beauty Beatrice Kwawu via email: beauty@aims.edu.gh

The subject of your email should have your full name and the abbreviations of the workshop as shown in the example: BeautyBeatriceKwawu_PMIA2021.

To apply, click here: <https://bit.ly/3kSjnGH>

Organizers

- Olivier Menoukeu Pamen, AIMS Ghana; University of Liverpool
- Antoine Marie Bogso, AIMS Ghana

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION:
26TH NOVEMBER, 2021

Federal Ministry of Education and Research

DAAD