Call for Applications

The African Institute for Mathematical Sciences (AIMS) Ghana invites applications from researchers in mathematical sciences to participate in the Conference on Mathematics and its Applications, (CMIA) scheduled from 9th - 12th December 2024 in Accra, Ghana.

The conference is organized within the framework of the German Research Chair program at AIMS Ghana, under the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, the German Ministry of Education and Research, and the DAAD Foundation.

Through various sessions, the conference will provide a unique platform for researchers in mathematical sciences and its applications to present their work and to network with others in their disciplines. It also aims at increasing the cooperation between students and researchers in mathematics and applications on one hand, and various institutions and research centers on the other hand.

Speakers:

- Auguste Aman, University Félix Houphouët-Boigny, Abidjan
- Stefan Ankirchner, Friedrich Schiller University Jena
- Moustapha Dieye, Ecole Polytechnique Thies
- Cyrille Nana, University of Buea
- Mouhammadou Sy, AIMS Senegal

Application and Requirements:

Thanks to the sponsorship of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, the German Ministry of Education and Research, and the DAAD, and AIMS Ghana, there are no registration fees for all research students and academics.

Organisers:

- Peter Imkeller, Humboldt University
- Olivier Menoukeu Pamen, U Liverpool and AIMS Ghana
- Rhoss Likibi Pellat, AIMS Ghana
- Prince Osei, AIMS Ghana

For more information, kindly send an email to the Senior Program Officer, Joel Bamfo - Appiah, via: joel@aims.edu.gh. The subject of your email should have your full name and the abbreviations of the workshop as shown in the example:
